

QUELLEN ZUR GESCHICHTE DER JUDEN IN POLNISCHEN ARCHIVEN (SOURCES ON THE HISTORY OF THE JEWS IN POLISH ARCHIVES)

On behalf of the Berlin-Brandenburgische Akademie der Wissenschaften. Edited by Stefi Jersch-Wenzel
2003 ff. 2 volumes. Hardbound. ISBN 3-598-11647-0

Almost two thirds of all Prussian and one third of all German Jews lived in the regions of present-day Poland which were formerly Prussia's eastern provinces. Nevertheless, until now the history of the Jews in the regions to the east of today's German border has remained an area distinctly neglected by research. The reason for this lay in the extreme difficulty, if not sheer impossibility, of gaining access to the Polish archives.

Faster and more direct access to the files now for the very first time:

The current work comprises of two volumes listing special inventories of archival documents dealing with the history of the Jews found in the Polish State archives, and facilitates quick, direct access to the respective files. In keeping with the central organization of Polish archives not only the files of the official state records are covered, but also files from other sources including municipal archives, church parishes, educational establishments, businesses, associations, political organizations and cultural facilities. The period covered corresponds to the time during which the individual areas formed parts of the Prussian state.

All entries in Polish are provided with German translations. Persons, places, institutions, organizations and business enterprises are covered by detailed indexes. For each archive the address, telephone and fax number, and (where available) e-mail and web site are included, along with the opening times.

The extensive holdings of the Polish State Archive:

Band 1: Ehemalige preußische Provinzen (Volume 1: Former Prussian Provinces) provides access to the extensive holdings of the Polish State Archives Koszalin / Köslin, Szczecin / Stettin, Gdańsk / Danzig, Elbląg / Elbing, Olsztyn / Allenstein, Suwałki / Suwalki, Toruń / Thorn, Poznań / Posen, Bydgoszcz / Bromberg, Kalisz / Kalisch, Leszno / Lissa and Białystok / Bialystok, including the respective subdivisions and the main archive of older files AGAD in Warszawa / Warsaw. around 8,000 files as a basis, research into the conditions under which Jews lived in the former provinces of Prussia east of the River Elbe, their activities in many fields and their changing view of themselves, is made much easier and considerably quicker.

The second volume will deal with the holdings of the archives of the former Prussian province Silesia, a substantial part of which have been preserved.

Archiven makes numerous little known archival documents more easily accessible. It constitutes the continuing implementation of plans to provide new impetus for research into German-Jewish and German-Jewish-Polish history, which began with the publication of the series Quellen zur Geschichte der Juden in den Archiven der neuen Bundesländer (Sources on the History of the Jews in the Archives of the New German Federal States) (edited by Stefi Jersch-Wenzel and Reinhard Rümp, K. G. Saur Verlag 1996-2001).
